This is assembled from a variety of Chehalem Mountains vineyards, yielding a wealth of tart blackberry and black cherry fruit, with supporting acids and a sprinkling of coffee grounds dotting the tannins. It's sturdy, dark and shows a steely spine. It has the power to support a very fine grilled salmon steak, and the balance to age nicely over a decade or longer.  95points PAUL GREGUTT	This is assembled from a variety of Chehalem Mountains vineyards, yielding a wealth of tart blackberry and black cherry fruit, with supporting acids and a sprinkling of coffee grounds dotting the tannins.
